

evstores brings high performance Lithium-ion Tazzari to the UK

evstores has been selected to distribute the Italian-manufactured electric Tazzari ZERO in the UK and Ireland, adding to evstores' growing range of exciting electric vehicles.

Based in Modena in Italy, the home of exotic sports cars like Ferrari, Lamborghini and Maserati, the Tazzari Group plans to manufacture the innovative, stylish super mini the environmentally conscious urban enthusiast. Tazzari believes that "Made in Italy" will stand for "Best in Class" in the electric vehicle market as well.

The sporty, aluminum-bodied Tazzari ZERO delivers zero emissions, has a top speed of 56 mph and a number of creature features, such as a removable sunroof, heating and leather interior, stereo radio with MP3 and CD player, 15" custom colored wheels, all-round performance disc brakes, fog lamps and leather seats.

Using state-of-the-art lithium-ion batteries the Zero promises a range of up to 88 miles and will recharge in around 6 hours from the mains or in 50 minutes with optional super-fast battery charger.

The Tazzari ZERO will be introduced in December 2009 at the Bologna International Motor Show and will be on sale in the UK immediately thereafter. The Tazzari ZERO - Ecological, Electric and Dynamic -- is an exciting response to our congested and polluted urban centers.

evstores will start taking deposits from this summer

The Tazzari was founded in 1963 when Giorgio Tazzari set up what would become an established and continually expanding Italian manufacturing company. The company's long and varied history has rightly led the Tazzari family to occupy an important place in advanced engineering, aluminium casting, subcontracting and assembly, machining and the service sector.

The company has always been a dedicated Italian producer in pursuit of excellence. Now, after 45 years of growth, investment, diversification, improvement and increasing specialisation in the very best of technology and manufacturing, Tazzari Holding and its affiliates are directed by Erik and Rafael Tazzari.
